Model Wall: Caroline Brasch Nielsen

Two months ago you would typically find Caroline Brasch Nielsen outdoors on her family's farm, either working in the stables or jumping her horse, Pierre. "I've been riding competitively since I was six years old," Caroline says. Since being scouted in a Copenhagen pizza bar—and instantly being cast in a whole slew of Paris fashion week shows (including Balenciaga and Dries Van Noten)—she hasn't had much time for the barn these days. But you won't hear her complaining! "I'm graduating from high school at the close of the semester and plan to focus on modeling." Perhaps the only riding boots Caroline will be wearing will be on the runway.

Provenance: Kvistgaard, Denmark
